Portsmouth Hospitality Company Organizes Restaurant Week Event

(January 2, 2020 - Portsmouth, Virginia) - Portsmouth Hospitality, a destination, event and business management company, in partnership with the Olde Towne Business Association, and the city of Portsmouth, is bringing back Portsmouth Restaurant Week January 26 - February 1, 2020. Designed to draw new customers and existing ones, Portsmouth Restaurant Week is a time for the port city "to show off its wide variety of gourmet specialties," said Danielle Babcheck, brainchild of Portsmouth Hospitality.

"Our local chefs are preparing menus that are guaranteed to leave you wanting more. Participating restaurants will offer special menus with options for two-course lunches at $10 or $15, and three-course dinners at $25 or $35," Babcheck added. Portsmouth Restaurant Week will give local restaurants the opportunity to impress customers with their food and service - an experience that may persuade some guests to come back and become repeat customers. Portsmouth Restaurant Week will also give participating restaurants the opportunity to boost their reputations as high-quality and fashionable restaurants in the community.

"Portsmouth offers a wide array of food options," Babcheck stated. "We have American, German, Mexican, Italian, Thai, vegan, European, tapas, seafood and more. All are locally owned small businesses, some of which have been around for 20 to 30 years." Babcheck said that any restaurant in Portsmouth can participate and that more than 20 restaurants have already signed on. The event planner also stated that this is not Portsmouth's first Restaurant Week. "The last one was held almost 10 years ago." With the resurrection of Portsmouth Restaurant Week, Babcheck believes the week will give restaurateurs more opportunity to show off their diverse types of cuisine. "People coming to Portsmouth to experience Portsmouth Restaurant Week should expect excellent food, a great crowd of people and the best the city has to offer. And, yes! Portsmouth Restaurant Week will be an annual event," she exclaimed.

Among the participating Portsmouth restaurants are:

- Roger Brown's Restaurant and Sports Bar
- Gosport Tavern
- Amicis
- Olde Towne Public House
- Legend Brewing Company
- Baron's Pub
- The Bier Garden, and others
